MACROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION

Spanish Grey marble is a natural stone of Spanish provenience, distinguished by an intense grey color and more or less marked veining, based on the quarry and block of provenience, a lithotype with a strong personality, very much used in modern and contemporary projects.

The possible uses of Spanish Grey marble are various: from the modern marble flooring, the main character of a design to facings for interiors and exteriors, from decorative and daily objects to important contemporary staircases, for both public and private designs.
