

NEW LUNEL

COLOUR

Beige

MACROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION

New Lunel is an unusual vanilla-colored marble, with thin gray quartz lines and occasional white shadings, more or less visible based on the block and quarry of extraction. This marble is appealing to the eye in both polished and honed finishes, a natural stone that enhances the elegance of every space when used. Its neutral but warm tones make this material very popular for both commercial and residential structures.

New Lunel marble or Lunel Claire, extracted in the North of France and particularly in the Calais area, is particularly appreciated for bathrooms facings and staircases designs.
