

PEPERINO GRIGIO

COLOUR

Grey

MACROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION

Peperino Grey is a volcanic stone characterized by a grey background flooded by lots of biotite particles that at a first glance seem pepper grains, particularity from which it gets its unusual name. Peperino can also be found in pink version, a very precious and rare variety.

Peperino Grey is suitable to be used in interior design projects as in the exterior ones thanks to its resistance to atmospheric agents and time passing, but also to its elegance. Possible realizations with Peperino Grey are floorings, facings for interiors and exteriors, staircases, decorative and daily objects, kitchen tops and bathrooms elements.
